Lotus Esprit S1, S2 urethane gearbox mount A079F6022P

For those Esprit owners that who demand nothing but the very best in Lotus spare parts, Lotus Marques is pleased to offer a urethane replacement for the original gearbox mount A079F6022P. These urethane mounts offer a reduction in torque movement of both engine and gearbox during gear changes. The mount material and subsequent reduction of movement provides an extended service life without introducing undesirable noise or vibration.

These high quality components have external steel casings that are a light press fit into the original location. The central crush tube is the same length as per the original item and accepts the standard ½ inch diameter fixing bolt.

The urethane components pictured above are a direct replacement for the original gearbox mount A079F6022P and no modifications are required during the installation process.
